

Identification of factors governing a disaster prevention

Makoto Hasegawa

MD-PhD program

Department of Health Risk Communication

Fukushima Medical University

Summary

- ◆ After the Great East Japan Earthquake many people prepared for the disaster.
- ◆ Less people however prepared for the disaster, year by year.
- ◆ Percentage of those who prepared for the disaster differed by region.
- ◆ People who felt bonding prepared for the disaster.
- ◆ Feeling of bonding motivated people to continue preparing for the disaster.